Problem: If an employer sets up a resume drop via job posting, do they get an email notifying them of the resume drop? Is there any difference to a how they are notified of a resume drop via a visit with zero schedules? Likely Cause(s): n/a Resolution: For resume drops via a job posting, an employer can log into the system at any time and view the applications. They are not notified via an email that they have applications waiting for them. However; a resume drop via a visit with zero schedules involves the school setting up the time and date that the employer is notified of the applications and when they are able to view them on the system. Program Setting: For resume drop via visit with zero schedules: Program Settings> OCR Settings> Visit> Send Application Available Email to Employers = Yes
