Problem: I came across a job that is listed for Company A - China on the job grid, but when I click into the job its actually listed under Company A - US, why is that? Likely Cause(s): This instance is usually a result of the recruiter posting a job under Company A - China because the job posting is for the company's office in China, but the recruiter is actually listed as a contact for Company A - US. Resolution: In order to have the job posting listed under the correct company, you would need to change the recruiter's company. Jobs are linked to recruiters which are linked to companies Click here for instructions on how to change a recruiter's company.
